Taxation Section Scholarship

The International Bar Association's Legal Practice Division's sections offer a fund from which scholarships are awarded to young lawyers who wish to participate in the conference but may find financial difficulties in doing so.

The sections invite interested persons to apply for a scholarship which will cover accommodation, registration and provide a contribution towards travel costs for the conference. The scholarship will also include two years' free membership of the IBA, LPD and PPID, including membership of one committee within the awarding Section and one free PPID constituent, a waiver of either the next IBA annual conference registration fee or the registration fee for the annual conference of one of your chosen committees in 2010 and free membership of the Scholarship Alumni Group.

All applications and papers should be submitted to Kelly Savage, IBA Divisions Administrator (kelly.savage@int-bar.org), who must be satisfied that the applicant has convincing reasons for wishing to attend the conference. In addition, each candidate must meet the requirements set out in the criteria overleaf.

Two scholarships will be offered by the Taxation Section. The winners will be chosen by representatives of both the Individual Tax and Private Client Committee and the Taxes Committee.

The application must either be accompanied by:

- a) a 2,500-word paper on the subject relating to international tax matters.

Before preparing for paper a), please contact Raquel Novais (rnovais@mmso.com.br) with further information on your proposed topic. Raquel will contact you directly to approve your topic.

PLEASE DO NOT SUBMIT A PAPER FOR A) WITHOUT TOPIC APPROVAL FROM RAQUEL.

All topic proposals and related queries should be sent to Raquel Novais (rnovais@mmso.com.br) by 31 March.

OR

- b) a 2,500-word paper addressing the following question: 'Advising client on estate planning issues in the credit crunch: What are the tax measures or incentives your country has introduced to tackle consequences of credit crunch? What are the most effective and/or popular wealth management structures used in your jurisdiction and how do the new measures affect existing structures?'

OR

- c) a 2,500-word paper on trusts or their equivalent (e.g., foundations etc) and how your jurisdiction views them, their uses for clients taxable in your jurisdiction and their tax ramifications. Before preparing for paper c), please contact Olga Boltenko (oboltenko@hhlaw.com) with further information on your proposed topic. Olga will contact you directly to approve your topic.

PLEASE DO NOT SUBMIT A PAPER FOR C) WITHOUT TOPIC APPROVAL FROM OLGA.

All topic proposals and related queries should be sent to Olga Boltenko (oboltenko@hhlaw.com) by 31 March.

Madrid 2009

The International Bar Association (IBA), the world's largest international organisation of law societies, bar associations and individual lawyers engaged in transnational law, will hold its 2009 Conference in Madrid from 4–9 October.

As one of the largest international legal gatherings in 2009, it will attract approximately 3000 lawyers from more than 90 countries.

All 54 specialist Committees of the Legal Practice Division will present programmes covering current topics of significance to commercial lawyers worldwide.

The IBA's Public and Professional Interest Division's Constituents will also be presenting full sessions, covering topics dealing with public interest and general professional work. For a list of IBA committees and constituents please see pages 5-6.

The working programmes will be complemented by a full social programme which helps to establish and maintain business contacts and friendships with the legal profession worldwide.

Criteria

- (1) The Taxation Section Scholarship is free to enter. It is open to all lawyers up to and including the age of 35, whether or not they are members of the IBA.

Papers shall answer the following question/ or based on the following topic:

- a) Taxes - Essay on the subject relating to international tax matters.

OR

- b) Individual Tax and Private Client - 'Advising client on estate planning issues in the credit crunch: What are the tax measures or incentives your country has introduced to tackle consequences of credit crunch? What are the most effective and/or popular wealth management structures used in your jurisdiction and how do the new measures affect existing structures?'

OR

An essay on trusts or their equivalent (e.g., foundations etc) and how your jurisdiction views them, their uses for clients taxable in your jurisdiction and their tax ramifications.

Papers must be original, unpublished works. They will not be under consideration for any commercial contract by any publishing house. The author is warranting his or her unrestricted copyright to the paper submitted.

- (2) Participation with a pen name will be permitted, provided that an operative contact and a valid address are provided for a term until 29 June 2009. If authors using pen names are chosen as finalists, they will be required to prove their identity, age and qualification as a lawyer. If these requirements are not met, the candidate will automatically fail. Submissions with pen names will in any case need to be disclosed by all participants once the scholar has been chosen, at the request of the scholarship committee. Pen names are mandated for lawyers working in the corporations of the members of the judging committee.
- (3) In the case of papers submitted under a pen name, the e-mail address or any other reference of the sender shall not disclose the real details of the participant. In the case of e-mail addresses, for example, this can be achieved by using free e-mail services.
- (4) Papers must be sent by e-mail, preferably as Word documents or in PDF format to Kelly Savage, Divisions Administrator at the IBA office (kelly.savage@int-bar.org).
- (5) Papers are to be written in English and should be a minimum of 2,500 words, with a maximum limit of 10,000 words. The text should be double-spaced. Each paper must contain the author's name or the author's pen name, and a valid contact address on the front page.
- (6) Papers must be submitted and received by Sunday 31 May 2009. Papers received after this time will not be considered.
- (7) The Scholarship Committee will consist of the Officers of the IBA Taxation Section: Raquel Novais (Taxes) and Olga Boltenko (Individual Tax and Private Client). They will judge the papers primarily on the basis of legal argumentation, research, style, logic, originality and overall quality of the content. An international, rather than a strict domestic, approach will be appreciated. Factors such as financial need and geographical diversity may also be considered.
- (8) It is planned that the IBA Office will communicate the Scholarship Committee's decision to the winner and possibly any additional finalists by the end of June 2009 along with a request for their identification as per rule 2.
- (9) The decision of the judging committee is final and no correspondence will be entered into. The decision will be published on the IBA website. Winners will be contacted at the e-mail address indicated by them on the paper. They will be requested to provide a biographical note giving details of their legal career, studies and professional appointments.
- (10) The prize for the winning paper is as follows:

  - Free registration for the IBA 2009 Annual Conference, 4–9 October 2009, Madrid, Spain.
  - A contribution towards travel costs to the conference.

- A contribution towards accommodation costs while attending the conference.
  - A ticket to attend the Taxation dinner at the conference.
  - Two years' free membership of the IBA, LPD and PPID including membership of one committee within the awarding section and one free PPID constituent.
  - A waiver of either the next IBA annual conference registration fee or the registration fee for the next specialist conference of their chosen committee.
  - Free membership of the Scholarship Alumni Group.
- (11) The IBA and the Taxation Section has the right to publish a selection of the papers submitted, including but not limited to the winning paper (either the full text or extracts thereof) up to 18 months after the competition has ended; this includes but is not limited to the publication in the conference documentation and/or on the IBA website and/or other IBA publications. In any event, the name of the author will be indicated appropriately. Authors shall include a biographical note giving details of their legal career, studies and professional appointments. Papers received that are not in this form may not be considered.
- (12) Each participant may only submit one paper. Employees of the IBA or officers of any IBA committee are excluded from the competition.
- (13) The IBA, the Taxation Section, the Scholarship Committee and the organisers of the competition are not responsible for the loss, damage or non-arrival of any paper, nor for any costs or expenses incurred in the preparation or the submission of any paper.
- (14) Please note if you are awarded the Taxation Section Scholarship you will be required to confirm your attendance by providing a copy of your travel documents for your flight to Madrid and visa (should you need to apply for one) by no later than Monday 31 August in order for the IBA to confirm your hotel reservations. These documents must be sent to Kelly Savage (kelly.savage@int-bar.org).
- (15) Participants will be expected to have read and accepted all the above rules.

The completed application form must be returned by Sunday 31 May 2009 to:
